

The Inclusive Alliance, first established in autumn 2016, is led by two designated teaching schools, Castlewood School and Sherbourne Fields School. The Inclusive Alliance partners comprise of a group of highly successful specialist schools and professional partners who work collaboratively to promote innovation and research in a range of areas including pedagogy, access, technology and teacher training. We are a positive learning community working together to unlock potential. Our partners include The University of Warwick, The University of Northampton and Achievement for All.

The wealth of expertise and knowledge across the Inclusive Alliance is vast and by utilising this through school-to-school support, we are striving to create inclusive classrooms.

The Inclusive Alliance have already offered a suite of hugely successful SEND CPD opportunities. These have included Strategies to Support Children on the Autistic Spectrum, Practical Approaches to Teaching Literacy, Lego Therapy, Thinking Styles and Autism as well as bespoke support for a range of practitioners and leaders. As well as this we have provided school-to-school support developing Early Years practice, principles and pedagogy in a range of settings and phase.

Previous delegates have commented,

"This will really help me to support the children in my class" Oct '16

"Super resources to take back to school" Nov '16

"Brilliant strategies to improve my classroom management" – Nov '16

"Excellent Training" Jan '17

"Really relevant activities. Pitch was spot on...really practical advice, well delivered, Thank you!" April '17

Look out for our new training offers for the next academic year, which include an exciting and robust NQT and SENCo programme delivered by specialists in the field of SEND. This programme as well as our other offers will ensure you have the skills, knowledge and expertise to provide inclusive high quality teaching based on theory and practice for children with SEND
